3. On August 26, 2008, I was asked to view a January 24, 2006 video presentation titled "A Matter Centric Collaboration Case Study: McCarter & English," which was moderated by Kim Sanfanandre, an Application Manager at McCarter & English. The webcast is located at http://www.insight24.com/webcasts/content-92286_1.

4. The slide presented at minute 2:16 of the webcast represents that, at the time of the collaboration in 2005, McCarter & English had 860 Users, 365 Attorneys, 16 Practice Groups and 7 Offices in Newark, New York, Philadelphia, Hartford, Stamford, Baltimore & Wilmington.

5. The webcast addresses how McCarter & English converted the firm's document management system from the "DOCS" to "WorkSite 8," the document management system offered by Matter Centric. The moderator, Ms. Sanfanandre, represented that the conversion was complete as of Labor Day, 2005.

6. The webcast detailed the benefits of the Worksite 8 as a tool to organize all of the law firm's document database for all of the attorneys into a single, central, easy to manage document retrieval system; thereby allowing any attorney at McCarter & English to access any document prepared by any other attorney.

7. The slide presented at minute 2:36 of the webcast notes that the WorkSite document management system at McCarter & English provides a "Centralized environment" and "1 [one] Database (clustered) server: single database."

8. The slide presented at minute 14.51 of the webcast represents that the WorkSite document management system at McCarter & English provides that an "entire file is available from any location."

9. The webcast portrayed the Worksite 8 document management system as an effective tool to centralize and organize all of the entire law firm's document database for all of the attorneys into a single, easy to manage document retrieval system, thereby allowing any attorney or staff member at McCarter & English to access any document prepared by any other attorney or other staff member.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1274, I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing statements are true and correct.
